Quarter 4, 2019 - Main Highlights

- The MSCI EM Index saw substantial growth in Q4-2019, returning 11.84% in US$ terms for the quarter and 18.42% for the full year. Growth names led this rise, with Growth outperforming Value by nearly 13% in 2019. Rothko has a natural underweight to these names, which our modelling framework identifies as speculative with overly stretched valuations. As a result, the Fund lagged the index, while still capturing a large proportion of the upside during the quarter.
- Over the long-term, Rothko seeks to participate in market upswings and defend in market downturns - the key characteristics, we believe, in exploiting the 'saw-toothed' growth potential of emerging markets.

To determine if the Fund is an appropriate investment for you, carefully consider the Fund's investment objectives, risk, and charges and expenses. This and other information can be found in the funds full and summary prospectus which can be obtained by calling 833-810-7344 or by visiting www.rothko.com/mutualfunds. Please read the prospectus carefully before investing.

The Adviser utilizes a systematic methodology to select securities for the Fund. The systematic methodology is generally backward-looking using historical data to evaluate prospective investments or to generate forecasts which may not be predictive of a security's value. There is no guarantee that the Advisers use of the systematic methodology, or incorporation of other issues or criteria, will result in effective investment decisions for the Fund.

The systematic methodology can be impacted by a variety of technical issues, both intentional and unintentional. There is no guarantee that the systematic methodology will be able to avert technical issues and, if impacted, be able to recover from the technical issues.

Investing involves risk, including the possible loss of principal. International investments entail risks not ordinarily associated with U.S. investments including fluctuation in currency values, differences in accounting principles, or economic or political instability in other nations. Emerging markets involve heightened risks related to the same factors, as well as increased volatility and lower trading volume. The Fund may invest in derivatives, which are often more volatile than other investments and may magnify the Fund's gains or losses. The Rothko Investment Strategies Funds are distributed by SEI Investment Distribution Co. (SIDCO).
